Dialogue on Act 1 —to Repeal Arkansas' Full-Crew Law

STAR BALLOT

In the general election Tuesday, Nov. 7, The Star's editorial stand is this:
For President and Vice-President—

Richard M. Nixon and Spiro Agnew
Democratic the rest of the way

FOR Act 1—to repeal Arkansas' railroad full-crew law.

I was expecting a visitor after Wednesday's editorial endorsing Act 1, which would repeal Arkansas' railroad full-crew law. And I was not disappointed. He walked into our office Thursday—J. W. McRoy, conductor of the switch-engine staff operating in the Hope railroad yards.

It was a friendly meeting—as should be expected of men who have held conflicting opinions for many years and aren't about to change them either now or in the foreseeable future.

I'm for Act 1—Mr. McRoy is against it. He took issue with me on one factual point, however. I wrote that under present "featherbedding" law, which Act 1 would repeal, freight trains entering Arkansas are compelled to add two men at the Missouri line for the ride across Arkansas, who are then dropped at the Texas line. Mr. McRoy said only one extra man is taken on at the Missouri line. Public statements by the railroad say two—not one—but I'll waive the point.

I asked our railroad friend if he didn't think the railroad companies had made a noteworthy concession in this generation-long fight by guaranteeing that none of the present employees would lose their jobs if Act 1 is approved. He answered my question by asking one: How can you trust the railroad companies to carry out this pledge?

I disposed of that question at once. I told him I don't trust the railroad companies any more than I trust self-serving unionists who are attempting to continue loading on railroad freight users the cost of hiring extra men whom the other 49 states say aren't needed for railroad safety.

I said that if the railroad companies welched on their no-firing pledge then the courts and the public would be aroused—and this newspaper would be leading the protest parade.

The railroad companies have pledged that whatever train crew reduction is made under Act 1 would be achieved through attrition—that is, as trainmen retire their positions would be left vacant down to the crew level fixed by safety standards in force in all the other 49 states.

Mr. McRoy doesn't trust the rail companies. Neither do I. But I do trust public opinion—and so should the men who handle the dangerous and vital business of manning our trains. Act 1 represents a compromise in a railroad wrangle that has run all the 49 years I've lived in Arkansas—and it's high time we settled it.

The time is Nov. 7.

Profanity from McGovern?

BATTLE CREEK, Mich. (AP) — Democratic presidential nominee George McGovern has told off a heckler.

Saul Kohler of Newhouse Newspapers, who wrote a pool report for other newsmen, said McGovern said to the youngster: "I've got a secret for you."

As the youth leaned forward to hear, Kohler related, McGovern said softly in the young man's ear: "Kiss my ass."

Peace settlement will come when time is right Nixon says

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Nixon says the United States will sign a Vietnam settlement "when the agreement is right—not one day before."

The President, who jets to Illinois, Oklahoma, and Rhode Island today to start a six-state campaign, told a nationwide television audience that ambiguities in a draft peace accord with the North Vietnamese "must be clarified."

"We are not going to allow an election deadline or any other kind of deadline to force us into an agreement which would be only a temporary truce and not a lasting peace," he said.

Today's trip halfway across the continent and back is intended to bolster Republican chances of capturing closely contested Senate seats now held by Democrats.

It comes as Nixon discusses health issues in a noontime network-radio broadcast and precedes a Saturday trip carrying him to North Carolina, New Mexico and California.

Thursday night's speech was Nixon's first prime-time television address of the campaign. And it was his most comprehensive report to date on the status of the Vietnam peace maneuvering.

He told voters that "the leaders in Hanoi will be watching" the election results for an answer to the question of whether Americans want "peace with honor or peace with surrender."

His re-election, the President said, "can help make certain that peace with honor can now be achieved."

Campaigning in Michigan, Sen. George McGovern said after listening to Nixon's address that "apparently the negotiations for peace are not going well at all."

"We have reached substantial agreement on most of the terms of a settlement," Nixon said as he reported that the settlement "we are ready to conclude" would accomplish his basic objectives—including return of all war prisoners and "a cease-fire throughout Indochina."

The "no-point accord disclosed... Hanoi a week ago and not disputed by the United States—makes no reference to an Indochina-wide ceasefire. Rather, it says a cease-fire in South Vietnam would begin 24 hours after the agreement is signed."

Nixon's use of the phrase "a cease-fire throughout Indochina" was seen as an indication that the breadth of a truce is one of the issues still to be resolved. White House officials would not confirm that this is a hangup, but one said the President "always chooses his words carefully."

Turning to domestic issues in his 20-minute address, Nixon said one of his priorities in a second term would be "a rebirth and renewal of state and local government" without the bureaucratic meddling he said comes with a big federal government.

"I want us to turn away from a demeaning, demoralizing dependence on someone else to make our decisions and to guard the course of our lives," Nixon said in pledging to shift more power and responsibility back to the people.

Red forces show no letup in attacks

SAIGON (AP) — More than 100 U.S. B52 bombers ranged across North and South Vietnam and Laos today attacking Communist war stockpiles. Communist forces showed no letup in their attacks in South Vietnam, with more than 100 reported for the ninth successive day.

The B52s dumped 2,500 tons of bombs at targets in the southern half of North Vietnam, along the Ho Chi Minh supply network in Laos, and in all four military regions of South Vietnam.

About two thirds of the raids were in the central highlands and the provinces north and south of Saigon. The Communist command has intensified its attacks in both regions in recent weeks.

A dozen of the B52 raids struck at North Vietnamese troop positions a mile to two miles northwest of the air field at the Duc Co border camp in the central highlands which was overrun Thursday.

The U.S. Command also reported that American fighter bombers flew about 140 strikes in the southern panhandle of North Vietnam Thursday.

McGovern is skeptical about peace talks

GRAND RAPIDS, Mich. (AP) — Sen. George McGovern says President Nixon's nationally televised address Thursday night made him "highly skeptical about whether the Nixon administration will ever bring peace."

The Democratic nominee hurriedly booked 30 minutes of his own television time tonight in Chicago to give a fuller response to the President. The broadcast is scheduled for 10:30 p.m. EST on CBS-TV.

In the meantime, McGovern told viewers over a statewide hookup in Michigan that Nixon's claim that certain details need working out apparently means that the Vietnam negotiations "are not going well at all."

At the same time, McGovern took issue with the President's assertion that the Democratic nominee's domestic proposals would require "a 50-per-cent increase in federal taxes."

That, said McGovern, "is totally false. Mr. Nixon would not have dared to make that statement if I had been in the studio with him."

But Nixon has refused to meet him face to face, said McGovern, "because he remembers what John Kennedy did to him in 1960."

U.S. drafts secret plans for military advisory groups

SAIGON (AP) — The U.S. government has drafted secret plans for a military advisory group of American civilians to remain in South Vietnam after all U.S. troops are withdrawn, similar to the situation that now exists in Laos.

U.S. military sources said the advisers would be employed by civilian firms that would be under contract to the U.S. Defense or State Departments.

They would be on the order of Air America, the charter airline that the U.S. Central Intelligence Agency finances in Laos.

The draft peace agreement negotiated by Henry A. Kissinger and the North Vietnamese in Paris calls for the withdrawal of all U.S. forces from Vietnam within 60 days of a cease-fire, but nothing has been said publicly about U.S. civilian advisers.

Trudeau won't quit despite tie vote

OTTAWA (AP) — Prime Minister Pierre Elliott Trudeau said Thursday night he won't quit despite the tie vote in Canada's general election, and the leader of the New Democratic party pledged the support Trudeau needs for a majority in the House of Commons. Trudeau told a televised news conference he would ask Gov.-Gen. Roland Michener to call Parliament into session as soon as possible so his Liberal government could determine its fate with a vote of confidence in Commons.

The prime minister said the House cannot meet before the end of the first week in December. Some political observers said it may not convene until January because of recounts scheduled in at least six districts.

If Trudeau lost the vote of confidence, he would have to resign, and Conservative party leader Robert Stanfield would be asked to form a government. But David Lewis, the leader of the New Democrats, assured Trudeau's survival when he pledged his support to the Liberals so long as they do not introduce legislation his mildly socialist party can't accept.

With the 30 New Democrats and his own party's 100 members, Trudeau would have a safe, 14-vote majority in the 264-member Commons.

Bodies believed to be missing missionaries

VIENTIANE, Laos (AP) — The charred bodies of two white women were found Thursday in smoldering ruins in the town of Kengtok, in southern Laos, and a U.S. Embassy spokesman said it was believed they were the bodies of two missing American missionaries, Evelyn Anderson, 35, of Quincy, Mich., and Beatrice Kosin, 35, of Fort Washakie, Wyo.

Both were members of the Swiss Brethren.

Harry Hawthorne:

20 years of 'service'

By REBECCA LAZENBY
Of The Star Staff

More than 20 years have passed since Harry Hawthorne began working with disabled war veterans. During that 20 years he has interviewed and helped countless persons solve serious financial and personal and family difficulties.

Harry Hawthorne, Hempstead County treasurer, doubles as a Veterans Service Officer serving veterans, veteran's widows and veterans families in Hempstead County. He serves as a go-between for the Veterans Administration and service veterans and their families when they need help in securing benefits. This service is provided by the state legislature.

Most counties in Arkansas have a paid, full time service officer, however, Hawthorne has filled this position in Hempstead County for 22 years without pay.

"My pay is the satisfaction I get from helping those who are in need," he said.

Hawthorne, a shy, thin man with graying hair, is quiet and soft-spoken, and a bit reluctant to talk about himself. He seems to live primarily to help others who are in need.

He served in Europe during World War II; served as commander in the American Legion, and is a disabled veteran. "I started this work back in 1948," he remarked. "Being a disabled veteran myself I realized their needs. I just sort of grew into this work. I have a special feeling and concern for the disabled veteran; I know what they feel and I know their needs. They

Helping those in need

Harry Hawthorne counsels with Mrs. Lucille Simpson, a war veteran's widow, during her application for widow's benefits. Hawthorne has helped thousands of Hempstead County veterans and their families during the 20 years as veterans service officer.

deserve any benefits they can get and I try to give them all the help I can."

As veterans service officer, Hawthorne works with various organizations such as the American Legion, Veterans of Foreign Wars, and Catholic War Veterans; his duties include interviewing and processing any claims that a veteran may have with the Veterans Administration. "These claims are varied," he explained. "They include disability compensation and hospitalization for the veteran, loans, and money for education through the G. I. Bill. The most common claim I handle is the veteran's pension and compensation for any disability incurred while serving in the armed forces."

His office in the county courthouse joins the county treasurer's office. He divides his time between the veterans service office and the office of county treasurer. Hawthorne has served as county treasurer for the past 16 years and served as county clerk before being elected treasurer. His wife, Rose, works with him in the treasurer's office and occasionally helps out with the tremendous volume of paper work to be done in the county service office. "Between 25 and 30 claims are now being finalized with the Veterans Administration through this office right now," he stated. "There are at least 2,000 veterans of World War I, World War II, Korean, and Vietnam in Hempstead County right now. More than $100,000 each year comes into this county in the form of veteran's benefits. That's enough to keep any man busy."

Hawthorne's job as veterans service officer has a ring of joy and satisfaction to it but at times the heartaches creep in.

"I've seen so many veteran's widows who were left with three or four small children and no income. They came to me for help. One of the greatest joys I've had in this job is to see a widow receive the benefits entitled her at a time when her need is the greatest. This is the most rewarding thing I can think of."

MRS. THOMAS D. HARDEN

Miss Coleman becomes bride of Mr. Harden

Miss Kay Coleman and Thomas Dean Harden exchanged wedding vows in a double ring ceremony in the First Baptist Church of Hope on October 14. The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Neily B. Coleman of Hope. The groom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Hayes Harden of Prescott.

The Rev. Gerald W. Trummel performed the ceremony before an arch of yellow candles interspersed with greenery. Baskets of yellow mums were placed on each side of the arch. Mrs. B.C. Hyatt played a program of nuptial music and accompanied Mrs. Bob Bledsoe who sang "Eternal Life" and "The Lord's Prayer."

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a floor length gown of peau de soie covered with chantilly lace. The front panel and train were accented with scalloped lace and adorned with seed pearls.

The dress was fashioned with a high neck line and long sleeves of lace with deep cuffs. The three-tiered finger tip veil of bridal illusion was attached to a head piece of petals and seed pearls. The bride's bouquet was a cascade of white rose buds centered with yellow rosebuds.

Mrs. Carroll Beck served her sister as matron of honor and Miss Karlene Coleman was her sister's bridesmaid. Their floor length dresses of full colors were accented with yellow velvet. They wore yellow bows in their hair and carried bouquets of yellow chrysanthemums.

The groom's attendants were Bobby Harden and Ted Reyenga. Ushers were James Martin, John Lee, and Carroll Beck. Mrs. John Lee and Miss Sheila Kelley presided at the bride's book.

After a trip to Hot Springs the couple are at home in Hope where both are employed.

Misfired Brickbats
COLUMNIST BOTTEL:

I wrote a letter of complaint to you 15 years ago in Boise, Idaho, care of the local paper where your column ran. You were prejudiced in favor of women then and I'm sorry to say, judging from your recent answer to another bellyaching dame, you haven't improved much.

Who are you to suggest divorce (to "Gail") when you don't know how many lies she's telling about her husband? A woman's place is in the home and she should stay there and work things out for the sake of her children. So her husband "browbeats them," and "critiques, complains and bosses" but "everybody outside thinks he's perfect." Maybe everybody is right and SHE is a slob and a slut.

Don't encourage these stupid critters, Mrs. B. They'll just go out and make a mess of some other man's life, when at least their own men know how to keep them under control. Divorce is an abomination. Why must you immediately recommend it above all other measures? —MR. T. G.

DEAR MR. G.:
First paragraph: Sorry, wrong number: My column has never run in a Boise, Idaho newspaper. In fact, it wasn't even running around in my head 15 years ago.

Second paragraph: Friend, you've jumped to more conclusions—based on skimpy facts—than did your "prejudiced" columnist (who had a four-page single-spaced letter to study.)

Third paragraph: Your reading comprehension hasn't improved much in 15 years, as you're still scrambling facts. I suggested "seeing a lawyer" as a LAST resort, after a marriage counselor told this wife, "divorce was indicated." Even then I tempered my "advice" with "maybe a little bluff-calling will help your husband change his ways."

But you're right when you say a columnist never really knows the whole story. That's why I so often preface my remarks with "If things are as bad as you say."

P.S. "Bellyaching dame," "stupid critters," "slob and slut": pardon me, sir, but aren't you just a wee bit prejudiced AGAINST women?

DEAR HELEN:
I'm a 24-year-old virgin and not happy about it. Don't get me wrong—I go out with men, but mostly as a show piece. As a fashion model, I've built up the reputation that I'm "choosy," though totally experienced, and it's the men who are found wanting.

The truth is I'm scared they'll discover I'm a fake. How absolutely awful if the word got around that I had actually never been with a man! You see, in my teens I "protected my honor," then I got so busy with my career I had no time for affairs, and later I was "ashamed of my honor," so kept my secret by acting sophisticated, but dropping men who came to close. There was still no time to fall in love.

But now I've fallen hard for a man who might never stop laughing if I told him the truth. He's ready for marriage (the word gets around), but how can I possibly confess to him that I am —STILL A VIRGIN

DEAR VIRGIN:
Like the cigarette ad says: "You've come a long way, baby!" Fifty (even 25) years ago, women were asking, "How can I possibly tell him he's not the first one?" Nowadays they're ashamed to confess that he is!

You could probably fake it, with the help of a doctor, but I think the truth would make you much more intriguing. (If you can't laugh about this together, then perhaps you both have sexual hangups that might threaten a marriage.) —H.

Hells Angels members object of search

MARTINEZ, Calif. (AP) — A nationwide search has been launched for three men, two known as Hells Angels gang members, on charges of murdering two Georgia motorcyclists whose bodies were exhumed from a remote Mendocino County ranch owned by two former gang members.

A complaint filed in West Contra Costa County Municipal Court Thursday against Rollin Boyd Crane, 29, and Richard Allen Barker, 28, identified as Richmond Hells Angels members, and again Paul Francis Mumm, 26, of Berkeley, who was not further identified.

Four jailed members of the outlaw motorcycle club were arraigned Thursday under heavy security guard. They wore leg irons and were shackled to each other. The complaint placed two counts of murder against Edward Junior Carter, 24, and William John Moran, 36, and one count of being accessories to murder against Chester "Festus" Green, 28, and William Mark "orro" Mitten, 32. All were identified as Hells Angels from Contra Costa County.

Their case was continued to Nov. 10 for further arraignment.

Green and Mitten were held on $100,000 bail each. Moran and Carter were held without bail in the slayings of Thomas "Big Tom" Shull, 24, and Charles Baker, 30, who came to California last year and began fraternizing with motorcycle groups.

The victims, dead about a year, were unearthed by sheriff's deputies Monday on a 153-acre ranch near Ukiah. The unidentified body of a woman also was found, but authorities believe she died of a drug overdose.

Dist. Atty. William O'Malley refused to say what evidence led to the complaint but said, "Our information indicates the victims were killed in the unincorporated area near Richmond along San Francisco Bay."

The ranch's owners, George and Helen Wether, arrested on drug possession charges, sought immunity from prosecution and protection in return for testimony about activities of the gang.

In Oakland, Superior Court Judge William J. Hayes refused to delay the trial of four other members of the motorcycle club in the slaying of a suspected Texas drug dealer last May.

Hayes rules news reports about the unearthed bodies would not prevent a fair trial.

NEW YORK (AP) — Some men fear that if the women's liberation movement succeeds and every lady finally becomes the girl of her own dreams the world will be a more difficult one for men.

"No telling what they'll be like then," said one worried male. "It's hard enough to understand them now as slaves and mere sex objects. There's no telling how any man will be able to tell what they'll want when they get everything they think they want."

As a lifelong admirer of women myself, I think this attitude is merely another expression of outdated masculine chauvinism. Such foreboding is utterly unjustified.

Why should women be any more difficult to get along with in the future than they were in the past or are now? Is the beauty of a rose changed by whether there are a few less or a few more thorns on its stem?

Some things are changeless, and one of them, probably, is the essential nature of women. Women are not as unpredictable as they are thought to be. When you come down to it, they are actually as predictable as a weathercock, except...they respond only to the winds of their own soul.

So, basically, no matter how much she may seem changed on the surface, the willful girl of the future shouldn't be any harder to figure out than the willful woman of today.

The average man can safely bet that a typical liberated woman of tomorrow will still —

Solve the problem of what to do with a leaky package by giving it to a man to carry.

Prefer to run her own home than ride a desk in an office for someone else.

Think she's missing something in life.

Think there must be more to sex than she knows, because otherwise why would so many people talk about it so much.

Spend more time reading the ads than the prose in Sunday newspapers.

Spend more time watching televised soap operas than documentary programs.

Believe her son is too good for the girls he meets.

Shuck her shoes off in the middle of a long movie.

Pick a winning racehorse by whim rather than from the knowledge of its blood lines.

Rather eat a second-rate meal in a restaurant than fix a first-rate one at home.

Cross her legs self-consciously in public.

Be able to catch a cab in a rain when a man can't.

Hate washing dishes more than she does washing herself.

Change her mind more often than she does her opinions.

Have more real strength in a family crisis than her husband.

Believe in God, astrology and fortune tellers.

Do you double enough?

Here is a hand played about 40 years ago. West was Mike Gottlieb, one of the very best players of that early day. Mike would still be a good player except for one thing. He quit bridge around 1937 and hasn't played since.

Mike was an active bidder and famous for making close business doubles. His theory was that if you didn't double them they could get away with a lot of over-bidding.

A second part of Mike's theory was that if there was a defense to beat a contract he would find it.

Mike had a lot of cards, but his double of four spades had to be a distinct gamble. He opened the king of hearts and looked over dummy for a full two seconds. Mike was always a fast player and a two-second study was a real huddle for him.

Then he shifted to the king of trumps. South took his ace and led the ace and king of clubs.

Mike ruffed and cashed the queen of trumps for the third defensive trick.

South was able to ruff one small club in dummy but had to lose the other one to East's jack.

Looks elementary when you see it, but we wonder if many players would sacrifice a sure trump trick the way Mike did when he led the king.

The bidding has been:

West	North	East	South
Pass	1♥	Pass	1♠
Pass	3♥	Pass	2♠
Pass	5♥	Pass	3♠

You, South, hold:

♠ A K 8 6 2 ♥ A 2 5 ♦ A K 8 6 2

What do you do now?

A—Bid six clubs. Your partner is showing a lot of clubs. Gamble that there won't be more than one loser.

TODAY'S QUESTION

Instead of bidding three clubs, your partner has jumped to four spades over your two spades. What do you do now?

Adams said he asked the South Dakota senator to write the chapters early in 1971 "because I admire the man and how he has been able to turn on the kids of this era."

McGovern has a history Ph.D.

Here's what a freight surcharge looks like to a housewife.

If Act 1 isn't passed, Arkansas housewives will start helping to pay the salaries of the extra train crew members that are only required in our state. Why? Because the railroads are going to pass the unnecessary costs of the wasteful Train Crew Laws on to Arkansas' people with special shipping costs. These charges will be reflected in higher prices, lower salaries, or perhaps fewer jobs. You'll meet the surcharge in person at the grocery store. Let's pass Act 1 and do what we can to combat rising prices. And also keep Arkansas companies competitive with those in other states.

49 out of 50 states can't be wrong. Vote FOR Act 1.

Corona trial moves into second phase

FAIRFIELD, Calif. (AP) — Corona murder trial is moving into its second phase after four weeks of testimony surrounding the discovery of 25 bodies.

The second phase will cover Corona's arrest, a search of his Yuba City house and labor camp and recovery of various pieces of evidence, including weapons, special prosecutor Bart Williams said.

Testimony about finding the 25 bodies in shallow graves apparently was completed Thursday with details on the 25th body which included items offered to link it with the defendant.

Two bank deposit slips bearing Corona's name and a broken glass candle holder bearing a Spanish inscription were found in the grave, Sutter County Deputy Sheriff Steve Snelove testified.

Williams said an attempt was made to get fingerprints from the alibi but none was found.

Snelove also described other items recovered from the grave, found June 4, 1971, on the Jack Sullivan ranch. The items included a broken mirror and frame, egg shells, a child's sock, cuttings of Bermuda grass and a rolled-up copy of a Yuba City shopping guide.

He said because the land was irrigated, there was no way to tell whether anyone had tampered with the grave before it was found.

Mark Susterick, 12, a newsboy, testified the paper, dated April 28, 1971, was delivered to about 40 of the 50 houses on the street where Corona lived. But he said he could not be sure from the coding on the paper that it was one he personally had delivered in that area.

Heart surgery and mental problems

By Lawrence Lamb, M.D.

Dear Dr. Lamb — I would like to tell you of my mental problems. I had a near fatal heart attack three years ago. Eighteen months later, I could hardly put one foot ahead of the other. My cardiologist did a dye test on my heart to determine if and where I had a blocked artery.

The dye test caused a blood clot above my right ankle. It was removed by a suction machine up through my groin. I could not be given any sedatives due to my heart condition and I went through very much pain — so, I don't plan to ever have another dye test.

I did have a blocked artery, the main one over the front of my heart. My doctor advised me to have open heart surgery. He said I didn't have a chance to live another year without surgery. He explained a vein would be removed from my left leg and sewed to the artery to bypass the clogged artery.

I decided to have it, as I still have young children. I am a 43-year-old female. I went to Houston, Texas, for the surgery. Everything went wrong. My heart stopped on the table before my chest was opened — so that called for quick action to get it open. The surgeon massaged my heart until the heart-lung machine could be set up.

The surgeon did not know how long my heart stopped without blood circulation. He was afraid I might have brain damage. However, I went into a coma which lasted eight days. I cannot tell you about the horrible dreams I went through.

I am doing fairly well now, and take medicine for my heart and to control skipping of the heart. My problem is I can't shake the bad dreams. The surgeon told my husband I would have loss of memory, that I should forget it all and not talk about it. I am nervous and cannot hold anything in. I feel I just have to talk about it. I am worried about myself and sometimes I have chest pain. I have fought hard to live. I had pneumonia the fourth day and didn't know where the next breath was coming from. Can you understand what I went through?

Dr. Lamb, I am very thankful I am still alive. I do not want to be a cardiac cripple, but I just can't shake this mental thing. I have nightmares where I beat on my husband to fix the oxygen machine, it is on fire, etc. I need someone to talk to. My family is very kind but they don't understand my problem, so if you can read this, God bless you.

Dear Reader — Yes, I understand what you have been through. As a heart specialist I have attended many patients through open heart surgery. I wanted to put your letter in the column because too often people hear only the wonderful achievements in heart surgery without hearing the other side of the story. There are many complications that can occur and this is why some heart specialists are relatively conservative about sending patients to surgery.

I think you should talk about your experience. The best thing for you to do is talk the whole thing out. You will get over the experience faster if you ventilate all your feelings. Good luck and I hope your health improves.

Search continues for Boggs

NEW ORLEANS (AP) — Linda Boggs, wife of missing House Majority Leader Hale Boggs, said Thursday she had been assured that the military would not abandon the search for her husband.

Boggs, state Rep. Nick Begich, D-Alaska, and two others vanished Oct. 16 on a flight between Juneau and Anchorage.

From her Bethesda, Md., home, Mrs. Boggs told the New Orleans Times-Picayune that she had been advised the military "will continue the search indefinitely—until they find them."

The search has exceeded all records for the length of time spent in the air on one mission.

From bad to 'verse'

BEDFORD, England (AP) — Jack Birbeck, a butcher charged with parking in a no parking zone, made his plea to the court in verse:

"M'lord, 'tis my unfortunate lot, 'To have parked my car where I should not.

"With glee I thought that I had found

"A space for me upon the ground,

"And so I had — but was soon to learn.

"Two men in blue waited my return.

"They stuck a ticket on my car,

"And said, 'tha knows that can't park thar.'

"If I swear that this is the last time,
"I'll park by a no waiting sign,
"Will you forgive this dreadful crime?"

The court's reply was penned by clerk Edward Harding in his lunch hour:

"The court has decided on your fine,

"Two pounds to be paid in 14 days' time.

"The bench has listened to your poem,

"You're in the red and now us you're owin'."

Forbidden apple freedom fruit?

NEW YORK (AP) — The forbidden "apple," that storied old lure to human sin, got a new, honored place at a worship service here — as the fruit of freedom.

Church women dreamed up the idea, and celebrated it. They also communed by sipping apple juice. And they joined in affirming the "liberation of apples."

Declaring they rejected "man's traditional interpretation" of the Adam and Eve story, the congregation of Roman Catholic, Presbyterian, Methodist, Episcopal, United Church and various other Protestant women chanted in unison:

"We affirm that it does not convey truth to us about apples, and certainly not about ourselves. We hold that Eve performed the first free act."

"Ah-woman," someone added, instead of the usual "Ah-men."

The ecumenical "sister-celebration," held at the Washington Square Methodist Church here last Sunday, was part of a spreading women's crusade for fuller rights in church affairs. It came on "Reformation Sunday," once a day to memorialize the Protestant break from Roman Catholicism but now a day for unifying activities. There were varied women's tactics around the country to bolster their case for equal status in American churches.

In some cities, women tackled their theses on church doors — in imitation of 16th century reformer Martin Luther.

Prophets of GOD

That's what they were. They were of great faith, these Trail Blazers, and most surely they were commissioned of God. On their westward trek, they built homes, planted families and erected churches and schools. These dedicated pioneers set out to finish what had been intended in the first place. God commanded, "go ye into all the world," and these imbued started their journey which has made life more abundant for all of us. No sacrifice was too great. They were living examples of Americanism and true ambassadors of a great God. Now, may we take heart and from their consecrated example, erect crosses for Christ and lead those about us to a richer, fuller life in Him.

Banquet singers

The Youth Choir of the First Baptist Church, above, will present a program of special music at the annual Stewardship Banquet to be held

Tuesday evening, Nov. 7, at Fair Park. (See article below.)

Dr. McClanahan to be guest speaker

Dr. John H. McClanahan, pastor of the First Baptist Church of Pine Bluff will be the guest speaker for the annual Stewardship Banquet sponsored by the First Baptist Church of Hope. The banquet will be held at 7 p.m. Tuesday night at the Fair Park Coliseum.

The covered-dish meal will feature special music by the church's youth choir. Mel Thrash will make the introductions and announcements, and Mrs. Jim Hart will sing a special — "Turn eyes upon Jesus."

Rev. T.H. King will give the meal-time prayer, and Rev. Gerald W. Trussell, pastor of the local church, will give the benediction.

Dr. McClanahan, pastor of the First Baptist Church here from 1957 to 1961, has given more than 100 revivals in 20 states from the East Coast to the West Coast. He has written extensively for religious publishing companies, and is a past president of the Hope Ministerial Alliance.

School clubs to 'stash trash'

By STEVE CAMPBELL

The Hope High School Chapter of the National Beta Club, along with the French club, will pick up litter, Saturday, around allies, streets, and different areas in Hope.

This will be the first of many similar projects to be carried forth by these service organizations this scholastic school year.

Littering has come to be a serious problem, even in the city of Hope. The Beta and French clubs have taken notice of this problem and are willing to donate their time and services in "cleaning up" Hope.

The Beta and French clubs wish to thank all the merchants who were so willing to sponsor our cause.

The money received from the sponsors will be given to a worthwhile Student Council project — "Operation Goodwill."

Protestors remain barricaded

WASHINGTON (AP) — About 300 Indian demonstrators remain barricaded today inside the Bureau of Indian Affairs building they seized at dusk Thursday, their night's stay permitted after the White House apparently overruled plans to evict them.

Negotiators for the Indians said they would leave sometime today.

It was unclear, however, whether the protesters would resume the prearranged schedule for the Trail of Broken Treaties caravan which had been designed to dramatize what they called their fight for survival in white America.

Among the activities set for today was a spiritual service at Arlington Cemetery for Indian victims of war. They had vowed to hold the service in defiance of an Army ban on "parade" events in the cemetery.

The rejection of their petition to pray at the graves of such Indians as Ira Hayes, a Pima who helped erect the flag over Iwo Jima, fed the discontent already festering among caravan participants Thursday. They also were irked at sleeping arrangements during the demonstration period—or the lack of them—and a shortage of food.

Shortly after most BIA workers had left for the day, and amidst reports that armed federal guards were slipping into the building, the mostly youthful protesters abruptly began barricading all entrances from the inside with desks and machines pulled from offices. They gave newsmen and Indians who wanted to leave a brief chance to do so.

Except for a hard-hitting scuffle with police who stormed the building to retrieve a handful of colleagues left inside, there was little violence. Witnesses said many offices were ransacked, however, and said litter was so thick in the halls it was difficult to walk through them.

The Indians yelled from fourth-floor windows that "we're going to stay trapped in ... we're going to trap out all these criminals of the BIA tomorrow until we get some action."

Asst. Interior Secretary Harrison Leach said in an interview that the demonstrators would have to go, voluntarily or through force.

Editor celebrates 100th birthday

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — John Netherland Heiskell, editor of the Arkansas Gazette since 1902, celebrated his 100th birthday Thursday.

Nearly a thousand persons attended a reception here Thursday evening and hundreds of birthday wishes, including one from George S. McGovern, the Democratic presidential nominee, poured into the newspaper's office.

"One hundred years of life and many years of service to your community is a record achieved by few and to be admired by many," McGovern's telegram said. "My very best wishes to you on this occasion."

Various Arkansas political officials attended the event.

At the reception, E. K. Gaylord, owner of the Daily Oklahoman and Times at Oklahoma City, presented Heiskell a present. Gaylord is five months younger than Heiskell.
